BOTTLED

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 20.—(Via San Francisco, June 3.)—That Mazatlan will fall is a foregone conclusion in the opinion of the townspeople, its capture appearing to depend entirely upon the wishes of General Obregon commanding the constitutionalist forces. There are 200 federal troops bottled up in the city and unable to do any offensive work. General Obre gon thus was permitted to send the main body of his army toward Guada lajara for the purpose of cutting rail road communication between the west coast and Mexico City. The object of this move was to prevent arms and ammunition landed at Manzaillo from reaching Huerta's forces.

The American naval forces on the west coast, under the command of Admiral Howard, have been carrying out a policy of strict neutrality, their primary object being to assist Americans and forsigners to leave Mexico. Many, however, have preferred to remain, relying on General Obre gon's promise to safeguard the lives and property of all foreigners.

With the fall of Mazatlan immi nent, there is some speculation as to just how safe noncombatants will be in the neutral zone which Admiral Howard succeeded in having established. The temper of the natives is such that their actions cannot be forecasted.
